By Salvadorean author Federico Navarrete

Federico Navarrete is a Salvadoran innovator and traveller with a focus on technology and a goal to make a better world through technology. He has lived in multiple countries (El Salvador, the US, Poland, and Spain) and has travelled to over 20, gaining cultural intelligence along the way. He has achieved notable success in several innovation contests, including the Cisco Switch-Up Challenge 2016, the D&I Hackathon 2020, and Citython 2021 Eindhoven Edition.

Federico is also an expert storyteller and elevator pitcher with over 10 years of experience. One of Federico's main motivations is to change his home country's global perspective. He led this initiative by creating the first series of Salvadoran folkloric books in English, Timeless Stories of El Salvador. Each book contains 31 stories shared orally for hundreds of years.
